

What is claimed is:

1. A device for making pancakes comprising:
a cooking surface; and 5 at least one raised member secured to the cooking surface.
2. The device of claim 1 further comprising a spatula having a scraper blade secured to an end of a handle, the scraper blade formed to receive the raised member.
- 10 3. The device of claim 1 wherein the cooking surface has a plurality of raised surfaces.
4. The device of claim 1 wherein the raised surface is 15 located in a rearward half of the cooking surface.
5. The device of claim 1 wherein the cooking surface comprises a stovetop grill.
- 20 6. The device of claim 1 wherein the cooking surface comprises a frying pan.
7. The device of claim 1 wherein the raised member is releasably secured to the cooking surface.
- 25 8. A spatula device for use with making pancakes comprising:
a handle; and a scraper blade secured to an end of the handle having a 30 notched portion formed in the center of the scraper blade.

9. A method of making pancakes that retain condiments comprising:

providing a cooking surface with at least one raised member;
pouring pancake batter on the cooking surface substantially

5 around the raised member;

providing a spatula having a scraper blade secured to an end of a handle, the scraper blade formed to receive the raised member;

flipping the pancake about the raised member with the 10 spatula; and removing the pancake from the cooking surface with the spatula.

10. A breakfast item comprising:

15 a pancake substantially round in shape; and a center portion removed from the pancake for retaining condiments.

20